LETTER FROM THE SAC OPEN STUDIOS COMMITTEE

Dear Art Lover,

Thank you for picking up a copy of the 2014 guide. We are excited to say that this is our ninth annual open studio tour! Founded as the Capital Artists Studio Tour in 2006 by Cheryl Holben, then a board member of the Center for Contemporary Art, Sacramento, Sac Open Studios has grown to become the largest Sacramento art event of its kind. This year, September 13-14 and September 20-21, 125+ artists will open their studios across Sacramento.

Sac Open Studios offers an opportunity for the community to connect with local artists but also to the city we love. Use this guide to view artists' listings, maps of open studio locations, and to start planning your self-guided tour. On view September 11-October 1, the Preview Exhibition at Verge Center for the Arts features 125+ artworks from participating artists.

We hope you will consider supporting the arts by purchasing work directly from the artists, making art at one of the demos, or by becoming a member of Verge Center for the Arts.

See you soon and share your experience by tagging @sacopenstudios and using #sacopenstudios.

WE'VE MERGED!

As we embark on the ninth year of Sac Open Studios, Verge Center for the Arts and the Center for Contemporary Art Sacramento are excited to announce that our two organizations have officially merged. Joining forces will enable us to create a bigger, stronger, and more dynamic arts organization to serve the Sacramento region. The results of this partnership are already bearing fruit through the success of our recent Kids Studio Art Camp and now the launch of the 2014 Sac Open Studios. We hope you will join us as we continue our efforts in providing vital resources to working and career artists, while continuing to present high caliber contemporary art exhibitions to the Northern California region. Thank you to our participating artists, volunteers, and to all of our sponsors and advertisers. We look forward to seeing everyone on the tour this year!
